

STORY-WORKSHOP

In our story-workshops the children will not only listen to stories but also learn how to create them.

Why do we want to listen to stories? What does a good story need?

Those and other questions will be answered in our workshops.

Here is a selection of story-workshops you can chose from:

The Treasure Trove of Tales

(Duration: 60-90 min.)

After telling a few stories, the tellers will open their treasure trove of tales that holds all the “secret ingredients” a good story needs.

Together they will explore the world of stories, learn about heroes and villains, the right place and timing in a story and how to find a good ending.

The children will then create their own story and will have a story in their pocket to take home with them.

Listen and Tell

(Duration: 3 sessions of 60 min.)

In this workshop the children will listen to stories and learn how to tell them as well.

With a combination of speaking and acting exercises they will learn how to use mimic, gestures and voice modulations and will be slowly eased into telling stories themselves.

For more information feel free to contact Michael and Simone.